A person on the Cleveland Free-Net UFOlogy Sig has asked me about the Delphos, Kansas incident and would like to obtain an article on this which was in the Journal of UFO Studies, New Series, Vol. 1, 1989.

If anyone has this article or could upload it to me, it would be appreciated. Or if you could tell me where I can write for it, that also would be appreciated.

I'm confused. It's very easy to turn angular momentum into linear momentum without violating the conservation of either one. That's what a sling does. Is Kidd claiming that his machine violates momentum conservation?

Hello Clark!

I've got a very interesting script from a contact between a ufo-interest group in the "Schweiz" and Semjase from the plejades in the year 1975.
I've read the book from Brad Steiger, "the fellow ship". In this book Brad write about Fred Bell. I thing, he takes information from the scripts and some additionals from his phantasy and makes his own reality (for busines or for his "secret dreams" :-)

Did anybody got material from real contacts to Semjase or anyone from the Plejades? The "schweizer" group claims, they have up to 100 Photos and a Film from the ship's. I will check this in the next weeks...

cheers

I admit, I've been to the base probabally 20 times, and I always intended to go, but by the time I finished work, and it was time to head home (a three hour tour, a three hour tour) I booked!! I could see the vehicle out of the corner of my eye on the way out, the museum is outdoors. I intend to inspect it close up before I move from Virginia.

(it is in the Williamsburg, Newport News, Norfolk area)

Someone I work with told me that the "driver" had to stand up in it and that the fan was below the "driver" in the center, which led to a few accidents. (I have no clue as to whether this is BS or not)

I have been to thr Air and Space Museam several times and have not seen it there, but next time I go, I'll take a look see. Anyone else here in the "Monumental City" area see a Flying saucer in the Smithsonian?

I'm sorry to have kept you in suspense for a year, I asked for your address a long long time ago! Sheesh, I travel too muck and procrastinate.

Keith,

Sorry to take so long to get back to you. I'm in the middle of collecting data for my dissertation, plus doing some workshops on statistical software, so I haven't had a chance to logon to PARANET.

Thanks for indicating that you will be working on UFOCAT in the coming months. I'll let Don Johnson know. He is continuing to make progress, and recently Dave Webb has agreed to send HumCat cases to Don for inclusion in UFOCAT.

Interested to learn of the publication of UFORA information on diskette. We've considered such a practice here but wasn't sure the market would support such a project, so I'm eager to learn more about the project (and see the finished product).

Have a pleasant holiday season.

In the last few issues of Philip J. Klass' "Skeptics UFO Newsletter (SUN)", there has been discussion of the "red light UFOs' being reported by numerous persons in the Gulf Breeze area. In brief, it is apparent that some hoaxer has been sending aloft road flares attached to a balloon.
The color, duration, and behavior of these red lights match exactly what would be expected from a suspended balloon. Just recently, Dr. Bruce Maccabee of MUFON, one of the staunchest supporters of the sightings and photos by Ed Walters in Gulf Breeze, conceded to Klass that in several recent instances, ground-based observers were able to see both the flare, AND the balloon from which it is suspended.

Well, as for secutiry at the Base, it's not particularly anything of note,
BUT this only counts the areas that you can SEE. I was immensely shocked to discover that they had about 5 different runways at Wright-Patterson, because after 18 years of living there, I had only managed to see 3 from ANY point on the surrounding area.

I had heard long ago that the bodies weren't located in Hangar 18, but that they and the remainder of the items recovered from Roswell were actually on the base.

Consider these two things, First, Wright-Patterson was for a LONG time the home of a SAC Bomber wing. Now, I don't know if any of you have been to Dayton or have seen Wright Patterson, but I can tell you that the landscape does NOT particularly lend itself well to supporting a large-scale operation that this would require. At least not ABOVE GROUND.

I know it seems ludicrous, but I had heard stories from LONG ago that the majority of the equipment and the storage facilities were all underground.
BUT, considering the lack of space they have to contain all this, I can se it.

Second, Wright-Patterson has been the U.S. Air Force's BENCHMARK location for research projects. Every 5 years, they announce the fields that they wil working on, be they advanced materials science, or propulsion technology.

But the military is CONSTANTLY downplaying it's significance in this regard.

I don't know for sure, but I'd say that a good deal of the money that the government puts in there goes UNDERGROUND, and as a result, Wright-Patterson can still come through with the breakthroughs, while keeping a very low profile.

Well, it's worth a shot, at least...<g>

Time: a long time ago; 1974, fall, I believe. About 1 in the morning.

Place: Latham, New York

Events: The power in our house failed. My brother, at the time, was scared of the dark, so I went to his room to keep him company. I looked out the window and saw, against a ceiling of stratus clouds, what J.Allen Hynek would call a Nocturnal Light. It was a bright white color, the same as your average airplane headlight, BUT its spectral ratio was different. I know this because I wear glasses and had taken to looking at light sources through the edge of the glass; this caused a spectrum to spray out from the source. This light's blue span was about twice as large as that for an airplane light.

The light was, I would estimate, 2.5-3 miles away, and was describing a perfect circle of about 1/2 degree in size (the size of the full moon), completing one orbit in about 2 seconds. It remained at 15 degrees or so above the horizon. My brother saw it as well. We watched it for some considerable time, perhaps 20 minutes. I went to get a glass of water and, on the way back, looked out the hall window at it. I was in time to see the object cease its orbiting and take off across the sky at a tremendous rate, covering perhaps 60-90 degrees in a second.

Within a few seconds of this, the power in our house came back on. I make no claims as to whether there was actually any association between the object and the power failure, but simply note it as another occurrence.

After working with a little research project at the local libraries archieves, I was interested to find a couple of articles in which a UFO cult group seemed to be going nuts about October of 1975. I was originally intending on locating some news on the Travis Walton case for November of 1975 but I couldn't locate that particular case in the newspaper microfilm. However, I did located these articles and right smack in the middle of it was an editorial cartoon depicting a whole crowd of people waiting to be picked up by a UFO. Sounds like a nasty case of wishful thinking back in 1975.

HEADLINE: Kidnaped after UFO cult show, radio man says

San Jose (AP) - Radio personality Victor Boc says his kidnaping following a talk show about UFO cult was neither a hoax nor a publicity stunt.

> "I had absolutely nothing to do with it. I consider myself to have been threatened," declared Boc at a news conference Wednesday.

Boc was uninjured in the incident Sunday, when two men subdued him in the building where KOME is located. He escaped from his abductors several hours later by baricading himself in a gas station restroom. His abductors fled during the commotion.

Police, who say they believe Boc's story, have made no arrests.

Boc's three-hour show Sunday featured a taped interview with "The Two" - leaders of a cult calling itself Human Individual Metamorphosis (HIM).

The Two, who claimed to be thousands of years old and come from a higher order, reportedly promise converts that they will be transported by a spaceship to that higher order. Some people reportedly have given up their entire family and posessions to join HIM.

Boc, said the men subdued him by placing a cloth, dapped in a chemical, over his nose and mouth. He fell unconscious.

When he regained consciousness about three hours later, Boc said he was in an auto en route to San Francisco with his abductors.

The men showed Boc a letter they intended to send to KOME, saying, "When you next see Victor Boc, he will be a follower or our causes, and he will not be the only one."

The note said more newsmen would be taken hostage, given proof that UFOs exist, and then released, said Boc.

"We are an organisation with access to UFOs," Boc remembered the note as saying. "We have fist-hand knowlege that UFOs are real. The Two are who they say they are, and alien beings are here for out benefit."

The note was signed by "Worthy individuals Leaving Earth," Boc said.

He also said the note listed three demands for KOME, if the station "wanted to see Boc again."

It told the station to take a "favorable stand" toward UFOs and give wide publicity to a meeting scheduled in Oakland for The Two. The station was supposed to arrange a similar public meeting for The Two in San Jose.

Boc said he remained silent about his experience until Wednesday at the request of the police.

Here is an article I found in the local newspaper dated Wednesday Oct 15, 1975 which ads some interesting info in regards to Cattle Mutilations. However, these mutilated cattle in the article do not have the characteristics in most of those cases. These cattle were clearly beaten as you shall find out. Also mysterious is the disappearance of the campers without a trace.

Headline: Police say mutilated cattle found about time of UFO group in vicinity.

Fox Lake, Ill (AP) -

Police say two cows were found slaughtered and mutilated about the same time as a mysterious, 50-plus member of a "UFO" people apparently camped nearby.

Lake Villa police said the animals' remains were left on a farm about 10 miles from here, where the band is believed to have stayed October 2 to October 7.

One cow was found dead October 1st and the second was killed four days later, police said.

Persons who left homes in Oregon, Colorado, and California to await transportation from the Earth make up most of the group's membership. Officials say scores of cattle mutilations have taken place in those states.

Lake Villa Police Chief Al Copenharver said persons who killed the first cow, a Black Angus beifer, left only its head behind. The rest of the carcases seemed to have been butchered by persons wanting meat, Copenhaver said.

He said the second cow, a Holstein Beifer, looked as if it had been beaten to death. The animal's left ear had been severed and was not found, he said.

In some of the mutilations in Western States, lips had been removed from the cattle and their carcasses drained of all the blood.

The UFO cult is believed to have camped five days in the Chain O' Lakes State Park 45 miles northwest of Chicago, rangers said Tuesday.

"A group of about 50 persons took out camping permits on Oct. 2 and suddenly disappeared Oct. 7" said Mick Egan, chief park ranger at Chain

O' Lakes.

"It was about that time that the story broke about some 20 persons disappearing in Oregon to await time to leave Earth on a spaceship," he said.

Egan said a man used the name "J. Seagle, Cherry Creed, California." in signing a camping permit on Oct 2. The man said other would follow.

"They came in vans and cars bearing license plates from Texas, California, Washington, Colorado and Oregon," said Egan. "We thought it was very unusual, because travelers from those areas just don't show up here at this time of year at all. They wanted the cheapest camping spots and seemed strapped for money. They were evasive and kept to themselves. My patrolmen said some of them used Biblical names."

Charlene Petrovic and her husband of Waukegan were camping at the park when the group was there.

"They didn't look or act like campers at all," said Mrs. Petrovic. "They kept to themselves, sitting around together and doing nothing. On October 6 when the story was out about people vanishing in Oregon, the group got very excited. They milled around the ranger office and I heard a boy say: "I knew I made a mistake when I wrote my mother from Colorado to tell her I joined the group. The next day they were all gone - not a trace. It was if they simply were sucked off the Earth. All there junk was still at the campsites."

A license check by the Oregonian with Oregon and California motor vehicle divisions in Oregon and California indicates the cars at the Illinois camp were driven by people with assumed names, or by drivers other than their owners.

- A 1967 Rambler driven by a man giving the name "A Smith" is really registered to Rodney H. Adams, Newport Oregon.

- A 1969 Pontiac operated by a man using the name "J. Simon" is registered to John M. and M. Craig, Bandon, Oregon.

- A 1970 Volkswagen driven by a man using the name "D. Abel" is registered to John and Helen Wilson, Bandon, Oregon.

- A 1952 International allegedly belonging to "M. Daniels" is registered to Suzanne Cooke, Point Reyes, California.

- A 1964 Ford driven by "J. Stell" is registered to Paul Charles Groll, Milpitas, California.
